COLLEGE ROWING

On Both Coasts Will Profit by Eastern and Western Crews Meeting.

The appearance of the University of Washington crew at the Poughkeepsie regatta and the Princeton eight at Seattle next spring, as outlined by preliminary arrangements, will prove a boon to college rowing on both of the coasts. Both the Washington and Princeton combinations made envia-ble records during the rowing season just closed and with the majority of the oarsmen eligible for seats in the shells in 1917, should be able to hold their own in dual or regatta races both at home and on foreign courses.
